

'Awesome New Technologies for HR': HR Tech Conference Selects Korn Ferry's Four Dimensional Executive Assessment

October 5, 2015

LOS ANGELES--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Oct. 5, 2015-- Korn Ferry (NYSE:KFY), the preeminent global people and organizational advisory firm, today announced that Korn Ferry's Four Dimensional Executive Assessment will be featured as one of the "Awesome New Technologies for HR" during the 18th Annual HR Technology Conference and Exposition®, taking place October 18 - 21, 2015, at the Mandalay Bay Resort and Casino in Las Vegas.

Each year, the HR Tech Conference attracts an audience of thousands of HR leaders and practitioners who wish to learn about the technologies and trends impacting the way HR gets done. With record-breaking registration, the 2015 event is expected to be the biggest one yet, as more individuals from across the HR space seek to learn about the solutions that can transform all aspects of HR. And one of the most widely anticipated sessions among attendees is the annual "Awesome New Technologies for HR," which introduces the newest innovations from across the HR spectrum.

"Korn Ferry's Four Dimensional Executive Assessment was created to provide clients with an unparalleled view of talent, and the potential to know how well new hires will fit and perform, before they even start," said Michael Distefano Senior Vice President & Chief Marketing Officer, Korn Ferry, President, Korn Ferry Institute. "We are honored to be recognized for our innovation, creativity and pursuit of talent excellence."

Korn Ferry's Four Dimensional Executive Assessment is first offspring of KF4D, launched last year and believed to be the world's most sophisticated and accurate talent intelligence platform. KF4D's statistically validated best-in-class profiles – for any professional role, in any industry – are drawn from Korn Ferry's pool of more than 2.5 million assessed executives.

The "Awesome New Technologies for HR" session, held on Tuesday, October 20 at 8:30 a.m. PDT, will introduce the most innovative products.
